THE GREAT GAME
OF POLITICS
By FRANK R. KENT

The Food Muddle
Washington, May 11.—PERHAPS, when Mr. Herbert Hoover comes home next week, a complete picture of this terrible job of feeding the starving people of the world, with which we are confronted, can be had. At present we not only lack many of the facts but we are not effectively dealing with those we have.

THIS is not because Mr. LaGuardia, new head of UNRRA, is not a good man for the job. It is not because Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is not earnestly trying for the job. It is not because Mr. Truman is permitting the politics of an election year to affect his attitude toward this vital problem—for that he is not, and it is pretty rotten to suggest it. Nevertheless, it is wholly accurate to say that our management of the food situation has been feeble, futile and confused; that we are incompetently operating in this matter with no clear sense of direction.

FOR this miserable condition there are two reasons, both of which somehow seem almost inherent defects in our system. One is the Administration lack of a complete cohesive comprehensive plan. The other is the absence of a single directive head with full power to coordinate, execute and enforce. In some conspicuous instances the absence of these things slowed us down during the war. That they should cripple us after the war is an illustration of how seldom we profit by experience, how stupidly we contrive to repeat and continue our proven mistakes.

RATIONING during the recent war was on an intelligent basis. We deliberately refused to accept the formula that worked in World War I. The man who knew most about the production, distribution and control of food—Mr. Hoover—was calculatingly ignored. Mr. Chester Davis, who was the food man brought to Washington by Mr. Roosevelt, resigned because he could not get what he had been promised—a free hand and real authority. The whole business was botched and bungled; there was vast waste of time, effort and money.

THE same things can be said truthfully of our postwar food control attempt. Ex-Gov. Herbert Lehman, who until recently was chief of the UNRRA, is a high-minded man, honest and unselfish. But the organization he created was terribly incompetent. Its personnel was poor. Many of those whom it sent abroad knew little about what they were supposed to do and still less about how to do it. Mr. LaGuardia is a more energetic and forceful administrator, but he inherited a machine instead of constructing it and he has not got by any means the final voice in the matter of policy.

IT IS true that President Truman, free of the personal vindictiveness of his predecessor, two months ago called Mr. Hoover to act as honorary chairman of his famine emergency committee and sent him abroad to make a survey. But the overall policy has yet to be formulated. We have yet to make a plan. For example, the great question is yet to be decided as to whether, without the resources to feed all the starving people in all the world, we shall make the attempt to send food to India and China as well as to Europe, or whether we shall confine our food exports to the hungry peoples of nations whose economic and political rehabilitation is most important to us. In brief, is our policy going to be one of covering all the food needs of the world adequately or covering part of it adequately? This, along with one or two others, are basic questions which have not yet been fully faced. They must, in the end, be decided by Mr. Truman himself, who, with-out first-hand information has got to act upon the best second-hand information available.

THAT is why Mr. Hoover's return and report is so important. For, unquestionably, he is today—as he has been for many years—the outstanding authority in the world on this subject, with infinitely the largest experience and a record for practical relief of the starving dating back to the Boxer Rebellion in 1900, when he and Mrs. Hoover lived in China. Our hope of competently measuring up to the unprecedented relief needs of 1946 with a real plan lies first, in the character of Mr. Hoover's recommendations; second, in the speed, vigor and determination with which they are adopted. It would be inexpressibly shameful and shocking if petty political prejudices and unbecoming personal dislikes should interfere this time, as they so often have in the past.

Estate of George Rasch
Is Listed at $38,000

DOYLESTOWN, May 11.—George H. Rasch, retired New York businessman, who lived in Turkey and the Far East during his career, left a personal estate of $8,000 and real estate valued at $30,000.

The widow, Ann C. Rasch, of "Victory Farm", Doylestown township, and Girard Trust Company were named executors. Real estate holdings consist of a 157 acre farm in Doylestown township.

Mr. Rasch, who died March 27, executed his will five days before his death. He bequeathed his automobiles, furniture, books, pictures and other possessions to his widow.

The residue of the estate was placed in trust with stipulations that at the death of the widow a daughter, Mary K. Amador, become the beneficiary. Provision was made for Mrs. Amador's heirs and in the event the heirs are deceased the Doylestown Emergency Hospital and a sister, Elsa R. Ritchie, of Brooklyn, in the testator's will share the estate.

GRANGE MARKS NAT'L
MUSIC OBSERVANCE

Program Presented by Lecturer, Samuel McKinney, At Langhorne

ANNOUNCE A CONTEST

LANGHORNE, May 11.—National Music Week was observed by Mid-dletown Grange in the community house Wednesday evening, with a program of music presented by the lecturer, Samuel McKinney.

Stanley Twining was in charge of the business. A kitchen curtain contest was announced by the home economics committee as a feature of the meeting of Lower Bucks Po-mona in Carversville on June 5th. Members of the local grange plan to enter the contest.

Ralph Kirkpatrick, who had been serving in the Navy, was welcomed back.

The first number on the program was a violin solo by Mr. Slater, following which Mrs. Samuel McKinney gave a reading on the life of Irving Berlin, whose birthday anniversary will be celebrated on Saturday. Miss Eleanor Heston rendered as a vocal solo "Always," one of Berlin's compositions.

Another feature of the program was a musical guessing contest with accordion accompanist. This was followed by a piano solo by Ann Louble, one of the junior members of the Grange.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, May 22, when the home economics committee will be in charge of the program.

BUCKS COUNTY HIGHWAY ACCIDENT
INCREASE, LAST YEAR, WAS GREATER THAN ANY OTHER COUNTY IN STATE

State Official Advocates Teaching of Traffic Programs in Public Schools — Praises State Police for Accident Prevention Work.

There was a greater increase in highway accidents in Bucks County last year, than in any of the other 67 counties in Pennsylvania. This is according to George Lowe, assistant Safety Director of the Bureau of Revenue of the State.

"Traffic safety is everybody's business although it is often looked upon as nobody's business," Lowe declared. "Ask a person directly about traffic safety and often he would reply that he only cares about what happens to himself personally."

"The overall picture of traffic is a dynamic problem and cannot be answered by any one person."

"And I might add that traffic is entirely a local problem and can be helped along in the various communities by such organizations as Kiwanis and its public affairs committee."

"The big trouble is you are never awakened to do your part in this traffic safety campaign until you are first 'hit yourself' or effected at home."

"Did you ever stop to realize what nationwide publicity was attracted when several hundred persons lost their lives on the Morro Castle some years ago while during the 30 days that followed that disaster off Ashbury Park 3,000 persons were killed on the highways of this country."

Mr. Lowe said the peak year in 1941 for traffic accidents resulted in 40,000 killed and 1,600,000 injured.

"That's wholesale slaughtering, gentlemen, and nothing else," Lowe continued. "The job can be done to stop killing on the highway but you must do your part. In January of this year with 20 per cent less traffic in Pennsylvania there were 50 per cent more fatal accidents."

"So far as engineering and research having to do with the safety of new cars is concerned, that is okay, but the engineering of the individual driver is far from perfect."

The speaker said that so far as he is concerned the 160 miles of super-highway running through western Pennsylvania is nothing more than glorified super-tragedy—an experiment that did not and

"As for courtesy, let's have more of it. Nearly every time there is an accident it is the other fellow's fault; did you ever stop to realize that? An accident never happened unless both parties are partly to blame, don't forget that."

"There is no such thing as a right of way and the sooner those words are knocked out of existence the better it will be."

"As for the teen-age youngsters, what can you expect of them when you give them shot guns, bicycles and cars and never teach them about safety."

"I am asking you to join in a crusade against motor violations in order to cut down the thousands of needless tragedies."

Doylestown School Tax Rate Set at 16 Mills

DOYLESTOWN, May 11.—The Doylestown School Board adopted a budget of $167,000, after setting the property tax at 16 mills and the per capita tax at $5.

The property tax was increased four mills, from 12 to 16, and the per capita from $3 to $5.

Although he was absent and expressed a wish to decline the reelection, Wesley Bunting was re-elected treasurer. Mr. Bunting hopes to be able to attend meetings in the near future.

Because of the damage done to the new school tract, a kennel club, which held a dog show on Saturday, will be prevented from using any school tract in the future.

One director, who estimated the damage done because of the holes made in the ground and ruts will amount to $75 or $80, said so far as he is concerned the organization will be "wiped off the school board's slate."

The school directors said they were given the wrong impression by kennel club officers who merely wanted to stage the dog show under the trees and not interfere with the athletic field.

SCHOOL LEAGUE SESSION

TULLYTOWN, May 11.—The monthly meeting to Tullytown Home and School League was held Thursday evening in the school house. A gift was presented to Mrs. Benjamin King who will leave on May 16 to join her husband, Lt. Benjamin King in Germany. The evening was spent playing games, with refreshments being served.

TREVOSE CLUB TO HOLD SHOW MAY 21ST

B. D. Sutliff, of Valley View Farms, Will Be Speaker Of the Evening

AN INFORMAL AFFAIR

TREVOSE, May 11.—The May meeting of the Trevose Horticultural Society will be held on May 21st at 8 p. m. in the Community House.

"Local Color" might be an appropriate title for the beautifully illustrated talk to be given by Earl P. Allabach, Mr. Allabach, a structural engineer professionally, but an artist at heart, has harmonized color, texture and perspective in a series of truly lovely films.

B. D. Sutliff of Valley View Farms, Huntingdon Valley, who specializes in "Chrysanthemums for the Garden," will speak.

"Ye Olde Garden Mart," another feature of the evening, solicits your contributions of any plants, shrubbery, bulbs, or garden material that can be sold for the benefit of a permanent marker for the "Robert B. McKenney Memorial Dogwoods." Please bring something and buy something to help the cause.

This meeting will also be an informal Spring Flower Show. To make this show a huge success each member is urged to bring an exhibit or as many as possible. All entries must be staged before 7:45. The following classes have been arranged:

Specimen classes: One rose, container of 6-10 roses, One Peony, Container of 5-10 Peonies, One Stalk of Iris, Container of 5-10 Stalks of Iris, Container Flowering Shrubbery (One or more variety), One Tulip, Container of 5-10 Tulips, Vase Any Other Perennial (One Variety).

Arrangement Classes: Arrangement for Purpose Specified by Exhibitor, An All-White Arrangement—foliage permitted, An All-Green Arrangement, A Monochromatic Arrangement of Any Color, Semi-miniature Arrangement, not over 12" in any dimension, Miniature Arrangement, not over 4" in any dimension, An Arrangement in an Old Fashioned Dish, A Dual Arrangement suitable for a Mantle, An Arrangement suitable for a Table, A Study in Greens, accent of color permitted.

REMOVED TO HOSPITALS

Bucks Co. Rescue Squad removed the following patients Wednesday: Baby Michael Nocita, Franklin street, to Abington Hospital for treatment for pneumonia.

Harry Crobe, Roosevelt street, to Naval Hospital, Philadelphia.

Paul L. Gruber Is To Address County Ass'n

NEWTOWN, May 11.—The Bucks Co. Natural Science Association will hold a meeting in the local school auditorium this afternoon at two o'clock.

Paul L. Gruber, of Perkaskie, assistant County Superintendent of Schools, will give a talk on "Geology as Touching Bucks County." The second speaker will be Mrs. Vishnu Nimbkar (the former Elizabeth Landy). At the November meeting of the association she gave a most interesting description of her home garden just out of Bombay, India. So interested were her listeners that she was asked to give another talk. This time she will tell of their hill country gardens where vegetation is of an entirely different type. She will tell of India's fruits, vegetables, shrubs, trees, etc.

The meeting is open to all nature lovers.

PRESENTS STORY OF IBSEN'S 'PEER GYNT'

Rev. N. Herbert Caley, Langhorne, Augments Presentation With Records

BEFORE TRAVEL CLUB

"An Hour with Peer Gynt" was the title of a most interesting musical program presented by the Very Rev. N. Herbert Caley, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Langhorne, when he appeared before members of The Travel Club yesterday afternoon in the club home. He was introduced by Mrs. John W. Moyer, chairman of the club music committee.

The clergyman in telling of the poetic drama written by Henry Ibsen who asked Edward Grieg to compose the music for it, mentioned the fact that it was a gigantic task as the drama is extremely long. The stage production requires 52 speaking parts, plus others.

It was first played in Christiania in 1876, and later on the continent, first being presented in America in 1906 at Chicago.

The Rev. Mr. Caley informed that Richard Mansfield who played the part of the hero during presentations early in this century in the United States, found the part most difficult, it being a tremendous physical and mental strain.

The adventures of Peer Gynt took him over a large part of the world, and involved him in many situations with personal conflict and emotions beautifully described by the accompanying music. Grieg drew upon the Scandinavian folk music for the tunes, the hero being Norwegian.

The presentation of the story by the clergyman was interspersed by recordings of portions of the masterpiece, Mrs. C. Donald Moyer playing the selections on a record machine.

Delightful dance numbers, with attractive costumes being used, were presented by the Misses Helene and Patricia Coyne, of Croydon.

The brief business program was directed by Mrs. David M. Sheerer, Jr., who recently succeeded Mrs. Harry T. Neher as president. For group singing of "America", Mrs. John W. Moyer was pianist. Mrs. Frank S. Weik and Mrs. Sidney Longbottom served as tellers during membership balloting.

A desert bridge party is arranged for May 17th at 1:30 in the club home, with Mrs. Thomas G. Hawkes and Mrs. Theodore H. McGargue in charge. On the evening of May 16th the Junior Travel Club will conduct a fashion show titled "Pre-Nuptial Festivities."

AQUADROME TO OPEN IN JUNE
NEAR EDDINGTON

Lower Bucks County Sports Enthusiasts Promised Many Thrills

OUTBOARD RACING

Season's Opening is Now Scheduled for Sunday, June 16th

Lower Bucks County sports enthusiasts will be treated to the latest in racing thrills when the Neshaminy Aquadrome, a specially-constructed water speedway, opens with its initial outboard motorboat racing program on Sunday, June 16.

The Neshaminy Aquadrome, located in Eddington, midway between Bristol Pike and State Road, will introduce outboard motorboat racing on a quarter mile water course for the first time in sports history.

During a test run of the course on May 7, Byron Shannon, Audubon, New Jersey, race driver, roared around the course at a speed slightly in excess of fifty miles-an-hour.

When interviewed after the test run Shannon said, "The course is small and it's bound to offer more thrills to the spectators than the traditional mile-an-a-half course. With the reversed-start method of racing designed to place the fastest qualifiers in the rear of each group of boats, spectators should see a type of boat racing competition here that is more exciting than any outboard fan has ever before witnessed."

Promoters of the Neshaminy Aquadrome are all ex-servicemen. L. C. Vandegrift of Eddington, Pa., saw service in World War I as a cavalryman and served as the head of Bensalem Township Air Raid Wardens during World War 2. George H. Thomas, Cornwells, Pa., served as a Lt. Colonel in the U. S. Army Ordnance Corps during World War 2. H. Wicand Rowman, also of Cornwells, saw action as a PT-boat skipper in both the South Pacific and the English Channel area. During his command his PT was credited with the destruction of nine Japanese troop carriers.

One local driver, Francis "Doc" Williams of Eddington, Pa., is grooming his boat and motor for the announced seventy-five laps of racing on opening day. Williams, who drives a class "A" racing outfit, will enter the heats open to contestants whose motors are of 15 cubic-inch piston displacement or less. Williams expects his boat to wind-up on forty-seven miles an hour or better, which speed on the quarter-mile course should find him up among the leaders.

Promoter Bowman has not as yet announced the names of the entire field of drivers, but among those who will be on hand are National Champion Don Whitfield of Montclair, N. J., Edward Brautigan, Jr., Chester, Pa., pilot, and Ray Schilling, Philadelphia aquadrome.

Walt Edwards, another Philadelphia driver, known in racing circles as "Wide-Open Throttle" Edwards is expected to be on hand with an outfit reported to be good for better than sixty-miles an hour. Edwards is uncertain whether he can hold his bouncing water horn on the small course, but will test run in advance of the race.

"Our location has been selected with an eye to presenting races in an area where ample automobile parking facilities will be available and the course readily accessible to local transportation facilities. We feel that the Neshaminy Aquadrome is ideally situated, located as it is, a half mile west of the Neshaminy Creek with an entrance near the State Road Bridge. In observance of Church devotional hours on Sunday we will not permit contestants to start their motors before twelve-thirty," he promoters stated.

— MOTHER —

Oh, Mother, how dear to the heart,
Of every child art thou,
Thy name, the symbol of great love,
To it we humbly bow.

Thy sacrifice, thy patience too,
Were genuinely true,
We laud, applaud thy precious life,
For all that thou didst do.

Thy memory past or present dear,
Eternally will live,
To guide the world through ages dark,
With love which thou dost give.

This day we dedicate to thee,
Mother of life and love,
For patient care, and kindly help,
As well springs from above.

PLASTIC FUTURE

Although that bright pushbutton world which was to follow the end of the war somehow seems to have been waylaid, there is new hope available in a report on the first national plastics exposition held in New York. One gathers that this must have been quite a show. In fact, it renews hopes that the postwar world may, after all, turn out to be the sort of place that the glossy magazines said it would be.

Displayed were plates which mildly, perturbed at the way things are going about the house, may hurl with no fear of breaking, thus expending pent-up disdain at no cost to the target of her emotion. Then there was a new toy which makes other plastic toys.
At first that appeared to be some sort of a typographical error, but, anyway, that's what the report said.

When junior puts in another requisition for more playroom equipment, the doting father may simply suggest that the boy crank out a few himself.

For the absent-minded husband who never remembers flowers until his disappointed spouse issues a know-what-day-this-is reminder, there is a $10 orchid which should last practically forever. Pretty, too, they say. "Flowers, darling? Why, where is that one I gave you two years ago?"

In the automotive field there was a plastic disc, which, when fastened on with the hub cap, makes the tires look as if they had white sidewalls. This may be confusing for those who like to judge a man's credit rating by looking at the tires on the car he drives, but then it's going to make motoring a lot more democratic.

Perhaps America is on the threshold (plastic) of a wondrous new era, after all.

DANES WOULD GIVE FOOD

In the midst of grave concern over the finding of sufficient food to fight famine in the world comes the disclosure that Denmark could export food for 4,000,000 people if she were given the opportunity.

Denmark storage plants are filled with meat and Denmark has been forced to reduce farm production and lay up hundreds of fishing boats. And this happens at a time when food is desperately needed in Europe.

"It is a bloody irony," says one Danish newspaper editorially, "that our food production, which was made to contribute to the maintenance of Hitler Germany, cannot now be used fully to help the victims of this war."

One of the troubles is that the Danes lack fodder and farm machinery. Other troubles stem from transportation difficulties and UNRRA red tape. Some of the troubles are excusable, some not.

The fact remains that the Danes are in position to deliver important quantities of food to other European countries. Every effort should be made by Allied food administrators to give them the opportunity to do so and decrease the strain of producing food on other sources farther from the scene of immediate need.

Today's Quiet Moment By Lehman Strauss Pastor. Calvary Baptist Church

Text: "Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies." (Proverbs 31:10.) O Lord, we lift our hearts in gratitude to Thee for our mothers. Help us to see that she went down to the very gates of death to bring us into this world. We rejoice for the godly Christian mothers who have tried and are trying today to bring up their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. May Thy rich blessing be their portion on this Mother's Day. Grant that parents and children alike shall be brought into right relation with Thee through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. We pray for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Ed. Sweeney Holds Visitors To Six Bingles for Five Innings

WEAKENS IN SEVENTH

Bristol Goes To Work On Woods Early In The Game

The Rossi's Bell team was handed its first setback of the Trenton Industrial League last evening on Leedom's field as "Johnny" Mulholland's Bristol A. A. team upset the apple-cart with a 5-2 win.

In stopping the four-game winning streak of the visitors, "Ed" Sweeney held them to six bingles and for the first five frames blanked them with four hits. He weakened in the final inning and allowed a double and single and these mixed with two walks and an error permitted two runs to cross. "Ed" is a brother to "Tommy" Sweeney, regular southpaw hurler of the A. A.

Bristol went to work on "Bill" Woods early in the tilt and in the second canto, "Freddie" Barbetta opened with a double and scored on a hit by Walde.

BENSALEM LOSES TO BRISTOL HIGH IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

Bristol Comes Close To Clinching Honors in The Lower Division

FINAL SCORE IS 5 TO 4

Wagner Again Hurls The Bunnies To A Diamond Victory

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, May 11—Bristol High came closer to clinching the lower division of the Lower Bucks County League by scoring its fifth straight win yesterday afternoon, edging out a win over Bensalem High, 5-4.

Although not as effective as he has been in previous games, Earl Wagner again hurled the Bunnies to the triumph. The losers got five hits off Wagner, two more than he has allowed in the last three games. But when the chips were down, Wagner breezed his fast ball past the Bensalem batters and had eight strikeouts to his credit.
